Rockstars!

This week we have launched a brand new online learning programme called Times Tables Rockstars and the children are loving it! The idea behind this is that it promotes the learning of times tables in a fun and engaging way. All children should know their log in details and can access the website at home via trockstars.com. The main sections to be aware of are the garage and studio sections where your child can practise their tables and level up their rock status. We have been working hard in class this week in order to gain our Rock status baselines and some children have already started to log in at home-well done! Who will become the first Rock Legend at William Barcroft Junior School?

World Book Day

This week the children celebrated World Book Day by bringing in a prop linked to a book! We had so much fun guessing the title of the books. The day was very much a celebration of books and different authors. We are very proud of our reading journey at WBJs and the children's enthusiasm for reading. Book tokens were sent home and they enable you to buy one of 12 books for £1. You can also buy audio books. Many supermarkets and book big store chains have these books on offer and vouchers can be used up until 29th March 2020. Please see out twitter feed for all the excitement of the day.

Notices

-Y6 take their SATs tests during the week beginning 11.5.20 please ensure that nothing is booked during that week that may disturb the Y6 children's sleep or concentration. Your support is appreciated.

-Please see our Twitter updates for more information and advice on the Coronavirus. We would encourage good hand hygiene at school and home.

-We have a vacancy for a "Parent Governor Volunteer" please call in the office to show your interest.

Get on your bike

You'll be exercising, getting out and doing your bit for the planet. If there was a dramatic, worldwide increase in cycling, it could cut CO2 emissions from urban passenger transport by nearly 11 per cent in 2050, according to Cycling UK.
